One Dead, 16 Hurt n Car Accidents

Oak Bay

By DON VIPOND Times Police Reporter

A 15-year-old Oak Bay girl is dead, eight persons are in hospital and eight others required hospital treatment after a black veekend of auto accidents.

Dead is Susan Marie Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Edward Gray of 565 Hampshire Road, Oak Bay.

She died of multiple injuries at Royal Jubilee Hospital about an hour after six people were hurt in a two-car crash at Fernwood and Pembroke early Sunday.

The Oak Bay Junior High School student was one of four young people being driven home from a party by an adult. Two of them are in hospital with skull fractures but all the injured are reported in good condition. AROUND POLE

City police said the car with the teen-age passengers was northbound on Fernwood driven by James Peterson of 2129 Florence when it was in collision in the middle of the intersection with an auto headed east on Pembroke and driven by A/B Keith Douglas, 21, of Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt.

The force of the collision wrapped the rear of the Peterson car around a utility pole, tearing open the side of the car and hurling the front seat out onto the road.

The front of Douglas' car was smashed flat. He was the

LBJ Visit Seen as Aid to Aussie Liberals

By VINCENT MATTHEWS

Canadian Press Correspondent MELBOURNE (CP) The full effect on Australia of President Johnson's visit here will not be known until the evening of Nov. 26 when the votes in the federal parliamentary election are counted.

Right now, Prime Minister Harold Holt feels he and his Liberal-Country party coalition have never had it so good. Cynics have referred to Johnson's triumphal Australian tour as the biggest election rally ever held by the Liberal party.

What started out as a dignified courtesy call by the presi-dent of the United States on his way to an important international conference in Manila turned into a mammoth "All the way with LBJ" demonstration.

when Holt regretted making, slightly and pay rises have on the whole kept page with it. There may have been a time all the way" with Johnson. But not now.

that the enthusiasm shown by Australians in welcoming Johnson demonstrate that not only was Holt right but that Australians now are prepared to go all the way with the prime minister. Or enough of them to give him a decisive electoral victory Nov. 26.

ACCOMPANIED JOHNSON

Everywhere that Johnson went in Australia, Holt went with him. Wherever the president made a speech defending his Viet Nam policies, Holt was there to applaud. In fact, Johnson justified Australian support for U.S. action in Viet Nam in a way the Holt government has never been able to do. never been able to do.

There was little else the Labor party could hope to attack the government on with any success. The economy is relatively healthy; unemployment has remained steadily below two per cent of the total work force: the industry. cent of the total work force; the industry.

Canadians Must Not Say 'Yes Uncle'

TORONTO (CP) - George Drew, former premier of On-tario, has criticized what he called press propaganda sug-gesting Canada is letting the United States down in not sup-porting the U.S. in the Viet Nam war.

Mr. Drew, honorary colonel of the 11th Army Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery, was speaking at the regiment's weekend reunion.

Both sides in the coming election—the Liberal-Country party coalition and the opposition Australian Labor party — had agreed that Viet Nam and conscription of 20-year-olds for service there would be the main issue.

agreement. It was an issue that worried Holt. He has noticed criticism from leading churchmen and, in full-page newspaper advertisements similar to those published in the United States, public figures, academics and influential people in many of the professions have put their names to statements of protest. While public opinion polls had shown over-all support for the government's decisions to in-crease the number of Austral-ian troops in Viet Nam, a majority had been opposed to sending draftees there,

Conscription has a long and emotional history in Australia. The only time any government previously tried to draft men for service overseas — in the First World War—it was twice defeated by referendum. ASSURED OF SUPPORT

What Johnson clearly demon-Washington earlier this year, a public statement about going a public statement about going when the two strated and emphasized every time in his speeches here was time in his speeches here was that the United States wanted Australians to be fighting in Viet Nam and that for being loyal allies Australians could always be assured of the support of the United States in any time of trouble in the THILLIMAC

So, the reasoning goes, Australia must do all it can to help the United States now in its time of trouble. conference on financial arrangements ended with an indication that the provinces would receive a little more in revenue from federal sources, but a firm declaration by Prime Minister Pearson that provincial demands for a still larger share of federally collected taxes will be rejected.

Both federal and provincial governments-to say nothing of the municipalities - are caught in the bind of constantly rising public demands for services, constantly rising costs and the necessity to impose constantly rising levies on private and corporate taxpayers. As a result of the tax agreements between federal and provincial authorities, which were inaugurated as a convenience during the Second World War, the federal government acts as income and corporation tax collector for all the governments and distributes the proceeds according to agreed proportions. In the ensuing years, the provinces' demands for a larger and larger share of the tax revenue, along with other demands for grants from the national government, have begun to encroach seriously on the federal government's own revenues

There is obviously a point at which the central government must say "no more," for the nation's commitments in defence, public works and - increasingly - in the field of public welfare, must be met.

so readily apparent. The taxing tral direction of financial policies pects of survival.

THE FEDERAL - PROVINCIAL would become more difficult, perhaps impossible. A chaotic condition could result.

> On these two grounds alone the federal government must resist further provincial demands, unless it can be proven that the interests of the nation as a whole will not suffer. Provincial government leaders have no reluctance in demanding more from Ottawa, for under the present arrangements Ottawa tends to appear to the public as the harsh tax collector, while the provinces emerge in the form of generous distributors of benefits.

Finance Minister Sharp has invited the provinces to levy their own taxes if they wish more revenue. This is not a suggestion well received by provincial government leaders, for on this basis they would risk unpopularity, and bear the onus of justifying their increased levies to the taxpaying public.

The error into which provincial government leaders so frequently fall is in considering their people as provincial citizens first and Canadians second. On this hypothesis they seek-as Mr. Bennett so often has-to raise a false cleavage between the people and their national government. The latter is depicted as an opponent from whom the just demands of the provinces must be won. It is a phony battle.

Sub-Plots Hinted for Tory Meeting

THE closer we get to the Con-servative convention, the more the plot thickens. With recent spinetingling developments, even the subplots become difficult to follow. In Edmonton, Mr. Erik Nielsen has demanded the resignation of Mr. n a t ional president and has expressed a fear that the Con-

Dalton Camp, the servatives may become what it was before 1956, "the Bay Street party." Mr. Diefenbaker, making a national appeal for fan mail, has declared that he has always favored a reassessment of the leadership. Meanwhile, a group of Conservatives known for their fidelity to Mr. Diefenbaker have produced Mr. Arthur Maloney as an anti-Camp candidate for, the presidency. Any one of these developments, considered in isolation, would be readily comprehensible. The puzzles develop when one attempts to put them together.

Bay Street Address

Mr. Maloney was, until 1962, a Conservative member of Parliament. He is a brilliant and very eloquent lawyer, known for his opposition to capital punishment. As the pro-Diefenbaker candidate, he has only one minor handicap which Mr. Nielsen seems to have overlooked, Mr. Maloney's office is at 130 Bay Street.

It will strike many people as unusual, to say the least, that the Conservatives should call on Bay Street. Without doubt Mr. Maloney is an admirable man but what precisely is his role in Mr. Nielsen's mythology?

Mr. Diefenbaker's words on reassessment would perhaps be more reassuring to rebels if they were sure that he and they are on the same wavelength. How ssible for Mr. Camp so to m understand his leader that he felt obliged to undertake a national tour, in the course of which he dealt severely with divine right, authoritarianism and other threats to the party? On one occasion, in Waterloo, Mr. Camp achieved a dramatic effect which Mr. Nielsen himself might have envied. "I may be purged as others have been," he said, probably won't be the last one"

Problem of Definition

The difficulty appears to be that reassessment" does not mean to Mr. Maloney, Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Nielsen what it means to Mr. Camp and the rebels. What it lacks in the view of establishment Conservatives is the element of choice.

Mr. Diefenbaker has, of course, made it quite clear that he will demand a vote of confidence. As he explained on television, this procedure has been followed before although it did involve the party in rather painful technical difficulties. The slogan of Mr. Diefenbaker's followers was stand and be counted. Other Conservatives insisted vainly on a secret ballot. There was some feeling that the procedure actually followed was more suitable for a reassessment of the delegates than of

MOM, I WAS JUGGLIN' THREE

It was perhaps significant that Mr. Maloney, in his meeting with the press on Thursday, voiced strong opposition to a secret ballot. He was all for a standing vote, to the extent that he favored a vote. (This case would be even more impressive if more Conservatives in the House of Commons were willing to stand on such subjects as medicare. Despite heavy criticism of the government's bill, only about ten voted against it on second reading - among them, it is interesting to observe, some very distinguished Immune to Whims?

Mr. Maloney's basic contention, how ever, was that leaders should not be exposed to the "day to day or month to nth whims of convention delegates." There is no vacancy and a party does not elect a chief when it already has one. In any case the constitution gives a convention no right to set up machinery for electing a leader.

It was not even clear from Mr. Maloney's exposition what purpose would be served by a vote of confidence since adverse vote could not in his opinion be construed as reason for resignation. Disconcerting things are always happening; an opposition leader, like a prime minister may be out of favor today but back tomorrow. Once chosen, he should be secure against these transitory ups and downs.

A whim, according to the concise Oxford, is a caprice or sudden fancy. This is a very strange description of the Conservative opposition to Mr. Diefenbaker. According to the researchers of Mr. Nielsen, some of this goes back to 1956. Indeed, the Yukon member, chief prosecutor in the case of the establishment versus Mr. Camp, takes the position that internal struggles have cost the party three elections while disfiguring its image for five years.

Behind the Obvious

This again suggests that the issue is complicated by sub-plots unappreciated as yet by the general public. Mr. Nielsen is out for the scalp of Mr. Camp. Mr. Maloney also disapproves, in a politer way, of the national president. But as Mr. Nielsen is bent on rescuing the party from Bay Street, it is possible that he is also after Mr. Maloney. Meanwhile Mr. Alvin Hamilton, the party's leading thinker, has thrown all sides into confusion by announcing his emergence as a middle-of-the-roader.

The situation in the Conservative party being thus confused, it is not surprising that the leaders are approaching the convention with some caution. There were even reports on Thursday that the agenda, possibly for security reasons, had been issued without consultation with the national president. The significance of this story, if true, is not yet apparent but there may have been a suspicion that Mr. Camp, if given a chance, would make off with it. A man who, in Mr. Maloney's words would "discombobulate" the Conservative party is presumably capable of anything.

admonition by your corres pondent that "it is time Canada stood on its own two feet" is windy rhetoric. Canada is standing on its own two feet. After travelling for several months in many countries I have seen what a valuable asset a Canadian passport is and what interest and goodwill it arouses even with blase immigration officials. There is no reason at all why a Canadian, just because he is a Canadian, should keep examining himself and gloating over the horrid spectacle of his fancied inadequacy.

Americans are being advised to buy a certain book about England published by the National Geographic Society because "by knowing England, you'll discover that you know your own country better than before — for the roots of our culture are there." O Tempora!

One of the real experiences the people in Canada can anticipate is the postmen's strike, to be staged, above all things, at Christmas time, the particular period associated with peace on earth and goodwill towards men.

As I look back 86 years to childhood, when the accumulation of money was not the begin-all or end-all aim in life, the postmen and others invariably received Yuletide remembrances from those in a position to give, in acknowledgment of faithful service. But what a change in our attitude today.

On Armistice Day we will gather throughout the world to pay tribute to those who sacrificed their lives in two world wars, for what purpose? Here in Canada, we will close the service by singing, "O Canada, we stand on guard for thee." But, do we really?-Harry

GEE WHIZ! DID IT

He showed that of Oct. 31, 1906:

sibly be sincere in his support for the effort in Viet Nam, which is now regarded as treason to the liberal cause. Humphrey's world view, it is pointed out, was formed in the dark, primitive, forgotten days of opposition to Adolf Hitler. And the author adds:

"The notion that America . . . should with aggression in the rest of the world, was (then) considered morally barren by many of the very people now horrified by our strategy in Southeast Asia." In short the liberals have changed, but Humphrey has not changed with them, which is of course dead right. But the question raised by the sentence quoted does not concern Humphrey nearly so much as, it concerns the whole American future.

There were already signs of trouble ahead in President Kennedy's years in office. The great majority of members of the Kennedy administration held the world view for which Humphrey is now being denounced -a view, essentially, based on continuing concern for the world balance of power. But a minority, headed by the late Adlai Stevenson, did not hold that view. What is called "world opinion" was their prime concern.

For this very reason, in the otherwise admirable book about the Kennedy years by Arthur Schlesinger Jr., there is a recurrent strain of unintentional irony. The liberals, meaning the Steven adherents, are repeatedly portrayed as the heroes of the hour. But it never emerges very clearly that President Kennedy, although he always listened to the liberals, almost never took their advice on foreign matters.

Senatorial Question

We have come a long way since then, to the point where people are beginning to ask whether Senator Robert Kennedy has abandoned the world view so strongly held by his great brother. The answer, in the senator's case, will eventually be in the negative, or so one must fervently hope. But even this will not guarantee us against another bout of national softheadedness, such as the United States went through in the '30s.

Most people assumed that the idiotic naivete about the Communist party was the most shaming feature of the nowforgotten_'30s. But this is incorrect. The single episode that should cause the far more terrible than its two terrible American intellectual community to blush most deeply was the campaign for the Nye Neutrality Act, in which this reporter, alas, joined The vast majority of American wall itself up and remain unconcerned, intellectuals not only joined this campaign, bullyragging Franklin Roosevelt into signing the Nye monstrosity, albeit with open distaste. Worse still, the vast majority of American intellectuals solemnly believed the ludicrous thesis behind the act, that all wars were mainly caused by "Merchants of Death." and that peace on earth could be achieved, with wonderful ease, by more control of the arms trade.

Nye Act

Great powers of self-delusion were needed to believe that thesis, with Adolf Hitler already in the Rhineland. And of course the virtuous and well-intentioned persons who howled for the Nye Act were howling for its instant repeal only about two years later. Hitler had by then taught them a rough lesson, and they vere soon denouncing Roosevelt for hesitating to go to war.

.In the new left, in the new isolationism, in the change of liberal viewpoint above-noted, one can too easily spot all the main ingredients that produced the folly of the 1930s. On the new left, one even sees the same old naivete about the Communist party. But this matters much less than the growing belief in easy, international gimmicks, the happy forgetfulness of the lessons of the past, the obstinate refusal to face unpleasing facts.

These symptoms are now becoming very widespread indeed. The people who suffer from these symptoms cheer Senator Kennedy, which does him no credit although it may give him pleasure. They also think the vice president is a traitor. Who can tell? They may once again become the majority, as they did for a while some thirty years ago.

But the American folly which cost little in the '30s, when this country was a' peripheral power, will have a very different price tag today, when America is one of the two giant powers. American folly today will surely produce a third world war - and a third war, moreover

Throughout the first century of independence governments were changed not by the ballot box but by revolution. Though there were two politiservatives and Liberals, they bore no resemblance to the parties of Disraeli and Gladstone. They represented basi-cally different factions of the landowning minority, and held power only as long as they had the support of the army.

Of recent years things have improved little. The dreary pattern of revolt and counterrevolt seemed to have been broken by the fair election in 1948 of President Galo Plaza, later known internationally as United Nations mediator of Cyprus. exist here and there, lighthouses in the general dark-ness. They may accomplish little or nothing as the world understands these things; but that doesn't matter, their existence is enough.

It's especially important for the young that such people exist. The young may be, as they tell me, anti-hero; they've had their fingers burned on that one; but they are pro-life, and these special or first-class people are rich in life - affection, cheerfulness, inner strength. They're the sort you want around when you're in trouble — and when you aren't in trouble.

Erich Fromm has described them; "The average person loves life to a certain extent;

Stephen Spender has written a beautiful poem about them: "I think continually of those who were truly great for life, who wore at their hearts the fire's centre. Born of the sun, they travelled a short while toward the sun and left the vivid air signed with their honor.'

The young can get along without heroes, I guess. But they do need (and, I think, of the Nobel Prize for literature, is a giant figure in a language read by only a tiny minority of the literate world. Like James Joyce in English and Marcel Proust in French - Agnon has reshaped the very language in which he writes and created a whole new literary idiom. Unlike Joyce and Proust, however, m illions, Agnon's audience can be counted in the low hundred thousands. Fewer still have understood his enigmatic tales, full of modern irony and symbolic out haunted by allusions to a stable traditional East Euro pean Jewish world now for ever gone.

Agnon was born S. Y. Czaczkes in Buczacz, Galicia (then part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire) in 1888. first started writing in Yiddish, his mother tongue, but quickly changed to Hebrew, then the hardly spoken language of a burgeoning Jewish revival whose political expression was Zion-ism. In 1909, after emigrating to Palestine, he published his first story, "Agunot" (Abandoned Wives), from which he took the pen-name "Agnon."

author. Newsweek's translated several stories by Shmuel Agnon and edited "Israeli Stories," published in Restless, Agnon returned to Europe a few years later and was caught in Berlin during the First World War. In 1916. he met Solomon Schocken, a rich German Jewish business man, who promised to find him a Hebrew publisher. Twelve years later, having failed in his search, Schocken himself published Agnon's first book in Leipzig.

Since the 1920's Agnon has has celebrated in his later stories as a kind of mystical celestial city of God on earth. Agnon has been most often writer Franz Kafka - whom. incidentally, he says he never has read. Both writers have created an aimless, chaotic world in which their protagonists seem to wander fruitless search for identity and meaning. But Agnon's language is far richer than Kafka's, and skillfully derived tional Jewish sources.

In Israel, where 11 volumes of his collected works have been published, Agnon is already a classic. High school students read him as part of their courses, University graduate students have al-ready entombed him in doctoral theses. Yet he is far from being a popular writer — perhaps because of the sheer difficulty of deciphering his meaning.

Abroad, Agnon has been ranslated into 16 languages, one of the last being Swedish. which was a requirement for Noble Prize consideration. In English, one full-length novel, "The Bridal Canopy" appeared in the '30s. More Schocken Books in New York has published "Two among the most successful translations of Agnon to be published in any language.

Now 78, Agnon tries to live quietly in his modest house in one of Jerusalem's southern suburbs near the Jordanian border. Last year, however, a brash new modern tourist hotel was built nearby. After some complaining, sign was erected by Jerusalem authorities: "Quiet,

VICTORIA OAK FOR PLANKS

Viking Ship To Be Displayed Here

Victorians next year will see a replica of a Viking ship as authentic as it is possible to make one in this

Gordon Jennens of Kelowna, the man who is building the ship, was in Victoria this weekend searching for Garry Oak to complete his project which had its beginning 14.

The oak will be used to make knees and planks for

"It's a centennial project," he said. "Children from Coast to coast will see the ship."

When completed her overall ength will be 60 feet - beam 14 feet. She will weigh 61/2 tons empty and will come

At the same time, Mr.

Jennens is building a replica of the Santa Maria — the ship
Christopher Columbus sailed on his voyage of discovery in 1492. Completion date is set for 1968.

PROUD PROJECT

But the pride of the 43-yearold craftsman is the replica of a ship sailed by Norsemen of the 9th and 10th century. Mr. Jennens claims his ancestors came to Britain with King Canute in 1015 — the great Danish King who subdued all of England except The Danes and the Anglo-Saxons were later conquered by the Normans — all eventually becoming Britons.

He got the idea of making a

Viking ship when he went to Helsinki with the Canadian Olympic team in 1952. He built the racing shells for the Canadian rowers and was responsible for their upkeep and maintenance. Before returning to Canada he visited the University of

INCLUDED IN THESE SUPERB AND VALUABLE RUGS ARE: ISFAHANS with its medallion, vase, and flower design known as 'Shab Abbassi', although the famous Sixteenth Century carpets so called were probably made in Herat. TABRIZ is an ancient capital of Iran. It was here that the beautiful hunting carpets were woven. No other district has used such a wide range of colours or design. Silk is mes used in the finer speciments.

DJOSHEGHAN. The rugs of this district have the vase design, but they are simpler than those of Tabriz or Isfahan. KASHANS. This is a very important weaving centre. Medallion and prayer designs inate and are woven both in wool and silk.

KERMAN. The yorn of this weaving centre is soft. The designs are mostly medallion. and trees and flowers. The colors are beautifully blended and are particularly suitable for European furnishings. FERAHAN is woven with the Sehna knot and has enjoyed great popularity in Europe and America.

KHORASSAN. The stitch of these carpets are finer than those of Ferahaa, but the wool is softer and not as durable as the latter.

HERAT. The most common design of these carpets is the recurring leaf and small rosettes. The ground shade is usually dark blue and the finer specimens generally have a soft green border. Knot: Chiordes or Sehna. SARUK. The style here is very close to that of the Keshan carpets. The construction is strong with a very deep pile. Knot: Sehna.

SEHNA. This is the district after which the famous Iranian knot gets its name. The carpets are finety woven in small Herat and cone designs. The pile is very short and the rugs are finely woven.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chairman J. V. Clyne of MacMillan Bloedel, Ltd., said a downward trend in the Canadian economy is making itself felt and any further increase in the tax burden on his company would be harmful.

"I'd like to see the tax burden lightened, but think it would be unwise from the point of view of the whole economy at the moment," he said in an interview.

But now that the slowing up has taken place, the government should let private enterprise take care of the situation.

"As for B.C.," he said, "the economy is essentially

RUSSIAN, CUBA TRADE TO INCREASE

MOSCOW (AP)-The Soviet Union and Cuba will increase their trade next year, it was announced 'today.

No figure was given.

The Soviet news agency Tass said that the increase would result from talks being carried on here now between Soviet officials and Benigno Regeira, Cuba's deputy minis-ter of foreign trade. It said a protocal to this effect will be signed shortly.

Last year the Soviet Union exported more than 3,500,000 metric tons of oil to Cuba. Cuban exports to the Soviet Union consist largely of sugar, the deliveries of which are to amount to 5,000,000 tons annually by 1970.

The gas was obtained from Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. through a link between the two systems at Niagara Falls, Mr. Kerr said.

Net income, after provision for d.i vidends on preferred shares of $1,050,000, was $9.106,000 compared with $10.015,000 in 1965.

Kerr said Trans-Canada has agreed that more than 50 per cent of the gas for Eastern Canada always will be transported through the company's Northern Ontario pipeline.

He said twinning of the Northern Ontario line will begin not later than 1970.

Steel Price Increase 'Must Come'

HAMILTON, Ont." (CP) Absorption by the steel industry of steadily mounting costs "is no longer possible," Frank H. Sherman, president of Dominion Foundries and Steel Ltd., said Saturday in a quarterly state-ment to shareholders.

Profit margins have declined and can be restored to their former level "only by means of increased prices."

Dofasco, together with Steel Co. of Canada Ltd., announced Aug. 1 that a 3.7 per cent increase in tin mill products would go into effect Oct. 1. On Sept. 13, Stelco announced increases of less than 3 per cent in prices of plate, galvanized sheets and some bar mill products.

Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp the same day asked Stelco to reconsider. If this was not done, he said, he would suggest a joint parliamentary committee look into industry prices. Stelco suspended the Sept. 13 price increases six days later and together with Dofasco cancelled the Oct. 1 increases.

Los Angeles 5: Victoria 3 By DOUG PEDEN

Winning the Western Hockey League playoff crown last spring may have resulted in fatter contracts for many of the Victoria Maple Leafs, but it isn't helping them win games in the new campaign.

In fact, nobody appears afraid of the big, bad champions, and the Leafs may find that resting on their laurels in an improved league is about as safe as trying to repose on a bed of quicksand.

On home ice, where they were undefeated in their first 14 games last season, the Leafs have hardly been invincible this time around.

Last Wednesday, for instance, the struggling San Diego Gulls collected their first point of the season by holding the Leafs to a 4-4 deadlock at Memorial Araena.

And Saturday night the Los Angeles Blades, playing their third game in as many nights, erupted for four goals in the second period and held on for a 5-3 victory to hand the champions their first defeat of the season.

The result doesn't mean the last them and the confidence.

DUNCAN 1976: Ocean Yachts in Somenos Lake

DUNCAN—The year is 1976.
What was the city of Duncan—population 4,100 just 10 years before is now a community of 12,000 run by a new form of regional government.

What was the city of Duncan, spawned by the railway a century before and nurtured by a highway which seaport too, now stretches from the rail steel of the old city across five miles of land, east to salt

Duncan 1976 is the hub of the Cowichan Valley. Its stores feed and clothe tens of thousands living in the valley. Its business firms service homes, the valley's farms, the giant lumber mills bustling road and rail traffic.

The new city supplies a growing stream of vacation travellers too. For it finnes a burgeoning tourist trail reaching from California north through Victoria to Kelsey through Victoria to Kelsey Bay, Prince Rupert and

Not just road traffic, Sleek yachts are now moored in the new fresh water anchorage at Somenos Lake, linked to the sea by a dredged channel up the Cowichan River.

Mayor Looks 10 Years Ahead

Only time will tell but these are some of the developments Mayor Jack Dobson envisages when he looks to the city's future just a decade away. sees more people, younger people, settling here. He sees the Duncan region blossoming as an internationally-known playground. The accent will be on better living," he predicts. Whatever happens 10 years from now, the Duncan of today has come a long way from the pioneer homestead of W. C. Duncan, a farmer from Ontario a century ago. History records no boom town here. Affluence has come through a gentle largely tranquil climb through the years; In fact, the first settlers came from Victoria in 1862 after the collapse of the Cariboo gold rush. Eleven years later they formed the province's third oldest muni-cipality, North Cowichan. The city was carved from this district 54 years ago, growing as naturally as one of the Island's towering firs into the administrative and trading centre of the Cowichan

'Remittance Men' Remembered

Between then and now local legends grew too. Duncan is still remembered for the doughty British ways of some of the families who settled a community of tweeds, plus-fours and independent ways.

Perhaps best remembered re the "remittance men." some of the black sheep of British aristocracy banished to this distant island and paid regular remittance or allowance by their disapprov-ing families to keep clear of the homeland.

Of course most of the British settled here through choice, often retiring after years in India, Hong Kong or other outposts of the old empire. Duncan's tranquility and mild climate provided the haven they sought.

The remittance men are just a memory now, says the mayor. The state of sterling no longer permits that sort of "gracious" living. Many of today's settlers are There is talk of high-rise apartment development in the city. It would be welcomed,

It is this pressure to expand which leads to visions regional government some day. Already one-third of Duncan's water system supplies land beyond the city's boundaries.

"It's got to come," says the mayor of a broader-based administration,

The community already spills into the surrounding district. Over one-third of Duncan now lies on Indian land over which the city has Volkswagen's unique construction keeps moisture out.

For years there have been rumours about floating Volkswagens. Why not?

The bottom of the Volkswagen isn't like the usual car bottom. A sheet of flat steel runs underneath the car, sealing the bottom fore and alt.

That is not done to make a bad boat out of it, just a better car. The steel bottom protects the Volkswagen from water, dirt and salt. All the nasty things on the road that eventually eat out a car.

The top part of the Volkswagen is also very seaworthy. It is practically air-tight. So air-tight you can hardly close the door without rolling down the window a bit. But there is still one thing to keep in mind if you own a Volkswagen. Even if it could definitely float, it couldn't float indefinitely.

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex. (AP) Big blonde Pearl and her 95-year-old millionaire bridegroom became free Saturday to wander down the path of wedded bliss with the full authority of the State of Texas behind them.

District Judge E. H. Griffin ruled that A. Otis Birch, 95, deaf and almost blind, is not being restrained of his liberties by his bride of four days, Mrs. Pearl Choate Birch, who has been his nurse since 1963.

It doesn't matter to him, the judge said, that the five-foot-11, 205-pound Mrs. Birch served a lengthy murder sentence. The philanthropist repeated in court that he did not want to return to California, where he once lived in South Pasadena.

Birch, one-time oil man and citrus fruit grower, testified at what in effect was a custody hearing, pitting his new wife against his relatives and friends. The marriage of Miss Choate and Birch four days ago set off a scurrying of friends and rela-tives seeking to determine whether he was being held in-voluntarily by the new Mrs.

Breckenridge Oct. 7. Miss Choate had cared for both in California and elsewhere.

The hearing was a haboas corpus case brought by Harlan J. Moehn of Danville, Iowa, a

Russia Plans Show City Facing China

MOSCOW. (UPD) - The Soviet Union Saturday announced plans to build a showcase city on its frontier with China. The metropolis will be a sort of Siberian West Berlin. The Kremlin announcement said the city of Blagoveshchensk by 1970 will have factories and skyscrapers glaring scornfully across the Amur River at the Chinese.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, announced a five-year plan for the frontier city, indicating Soviet confidence that any Chinese threat to the area can be safely contained.

Unconfirmed but persistent reports, both here and abroad, have mentioned recent new Soviet troop movements to the Amur River border in the Soviet Far East.

The area is known to have been heavily fortified for years. The Chinese, however, allegedly ovet more living room for an exploding population. Fleming Lived Dreams In James Bond Books

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP) — James Bond, the fictional secret agent 007, may have killed a lot of men in cold blood, but in real life his creator, Ian Fleming, didn't have the heart that sort of thing.

John Pearson, author of The Life of Ian Fleming, illus-trates this fact in telling trates this fact in telling about an incident that occurred when the late author was being trained as a secret agent in Canada during the econd World War ..

Fleming was sent to a hotel in downtown Toronto, armed with a loaded police revolver, and instructed to kill "a dangerous enemy agent" whom he would find in a certain room.
Unknown to Fleming, the Stephenson, the celebrated "Quiet Canadian" who headed British intelligence network in North and South America, was convinced Fleming would never have made a satisfactory agent in the field. Stephenson felt he lacked the temperament to be a true man of action — a 'blunt'instrument." as Flem ing was later to describe the Pearson, whose book was published Oct. '20, 'says that' Fleming, then in the British naval intelligence service, was nevertheless a star pupil at Stephenson's school. And much of what he learned was later poured into the best-selling

James Bond thrillers. Fleming was a "confirmed hero-worshipper all his life," says his biographer, and high among his heroes were two powerful Canadian millionaires, Stephenson and Lord Beaverbrook. Stephenson in particular was cast in the mould Fleming most admired. A tough First World War fighter pilot and former boxing champion, he also, in Fleming's awed words, "mixed the largest dry martinis in America and served them in quart

Much of the atmosphere and background of the Oshawa spy school went into the James Bond adventures, says Pear-son, who had access to Fleming's personal papers for the biography.

Likewise, much of Bond derived from his author, although not always in obvi-ous ways. Essentially, Pear-son believes, this rutheless, uncomplicated, always vic-torious man of action was Fleming's Walter Mitty ing for a complex, melancholy sonality forever dogged by

He even liked to imagine he had once killed a man in the line of duty, and confided several different accounts of the fantasy to friends.

Grandson of a self-made ottish millionaire, son of a First World War hero killed in France, Ian Lancaster Flem-ing grew up with the feeling that he wasn't measuring up to family expectations. At school, he took second place to brilliant elder brother Peter — another successful ter — and strove to inpensate by excelling at writer -

He dropped out of Sandhurst Military Academy, failed his exams for the foreign service and saw his plans for mar-riage to a Swiss girl foiled by his strong-willed mother, who held the family purse-strings.

This experience so embit-tered him that he told a friend: "Tm just going to take what I want, without any scruples at edi."

After years of detached. clinical liaisons, he finally married at 43 Lady Anne Rothermere, divorced wife of the British press baron.

In January, 1952, 10 weeks efore his marriage, he attled off Casino Royale, first of the Bond thrillers.

Mayor Hits Back At Parks Critic

Coun. Lum's Attack $452. 11 000. Called Unwarranted

Victoria has spent $115,000 on the Elk-Beaver Lake Park complex over the past 10 years. Each dollar has been matched by a similar expen diture by Saanich. Mayor A. W. Toone said today he is confident the entire budget for parks maintenance and improvement has been used as wisely as possible by Victoria parks' superintendent Herbert Warren and his crews.

Mayor Toone was answering criticism by Saanich councillor Edward Lum who last week claimed Saanich is not getting its full share of the costs while the Saanich - based city - owned park is being administered by Mr. Warren. Mr. Warren, Ir. Warren, the Mount Douglas Park area under its administration and has ranted," Mayor Toone said expressed a willingness to pay "Mr. Lum would have been all maintenance costs while wise to look into the matter leaving the land under city wise to look into the inatter ownership.

Victoria favors an outline sale or, if this is impossible, wishes to hold the right of maintenance and administration of the compact of the

of that."

In his personal attack on Mr. Warren, Coun. Lum said the Victoria parks superintendent and his crews are excellent at formal park maintenance and development, but lacked the experience to develop a wild park had them dressed up in kmitted suits with pom-poms, didn't she, so they wouldn't be cold?

A. According to B.C. Coast Names (1909) Sooke takes its name from Sooke Inlet which was so named by officers of the Hudson's Bay Co. after the Soke Indians of that area. Some historians claim the proper name of the community is Soke.

Sooke Inlet was first named Puerto de Revillagigedo by Sub.-Lieut. Manuel Quimper of the Spanish Navy in June, 1790. De Revillagigdo was the 52nd Viceroy of New Spain (Mexico).

Designers Answer Call of Youth fornia, a relatively young country in the field of original design, has successfully met the challenge.

Four fashion firms, taking part in the California Fash on Creators presentation for the first time, had their designers present to meet and chat with the fashion press.

Nellica Beitner, who designed the outstanding Bob Cunningham collection, came from the island of Java during the Second World War. She graduated from UCLA in 1957 and, after extensive making, joined the Bob Cun-ningham firm in 1963. Although Nellica takes part in the young designers' story, her theme is elegance, stated simply and beautifully. She caters to the youth of America but feels youth is a spirit, not an age. Though she primarily designs beach cos-tumes, this year she has branched into patio and lounge wear. Nellica favors white and uses imported laces and exoulsite embroidery to give a feminine aura to her costumes. A white evelet ankle-lengh embroidered batiste beach cost opened to reveal a minute bikini of the same fresh batiste.

This is the second season this collection has been seen and purchased by buyers of two Canada-wide departmental stores.

The Adams and Bagley company may sound like a firm of lawyers but Terry Bagley and Suzanne Adams are attractive, exuberant, young models turned design-ers. This collection harked back to the thirties and came up with "Faith," an after-five handkerchief-hemmed dress in multi-toned georgette. The

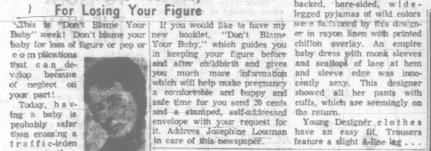

"Nathan Detroit" shirt was a vivid reminder of the era of the zoot suit, "Peacock Harsuit and jacket is for nights out rather than evenings at home. This collection sported the shortest skirts of the wisk — five inches above the knee

Af 22, Edena George, daughter of noted California sportswear designer, Eddy George, is a brilliant success in creating a total look of elegance for the young. Her beginning was a simple little gift upon graduation from UCLA. Her fether gave her a box and when she exclaimed at the contents he said, "Here are your labels . . . now make something to put them on." And that's how Edena Bou-tique of California was born.

A chic example of the Edena label is a pale blue crepe dance dress with thin shoulder straps, A-shaping s houlder straps, A-shaping and two rows of flapper-fringe and chalk-white beads over the bosom . . . a swinging 1960 dress reminding us of the shimmying '20s.

Whether the residents of Sidney like it or not, they are located smack-dab in the middle of the Straft of Georgia.

An information release from the Vancouver offices of CBC led off with the fact; "Sidney, B.C., is 40 miles north of Victoria and many more miles north of Hollywood . . ."

tit's only 18 miles north of us, Clyde.) It was surprising that anyone located in Vancouver would be so haive in geographical fact about their own province, but not surprised that the information was only a leadin to the fact that the network's Telescope will highlight Sebasian Cabot on Thursday.

Sebastian describes his property above the Deep Cove Marina as "my little bit of heaven" which allows him to relax with his wife Kay and daughter Yvonne in between television series shooting schedules in Holly-

Telescope cameras chased him in Hollywood, New York and Deep Cove last summer.

The only thing Sebastian is a bit sad about is that he was unable to catch a salmon for the CBC cameras. Program time on Channels 2-and 6 is 9 p.m.

Contrary to other announcements, CTV will open its annual series of Wednesday night live telecasts of NHL games between Toronto and Montreal on Wednesday.

The opening game is the first of 14 nights of midweek hockey viewing and will be in color.

The network will carry the all-star game from Montreal's Forum on Jan. 18 when the Canadiens, last year's Stanley Cup winners, will meet stars selected from other NHL teams.

The new color commentator working with Danny Gallivan on the Montreal telecasts, by the way, is Dick Irvin, who replaced Keith Dancy. Last Saturday, Gallivan had to correct Irvin a few times but Irvin's wrong play interpretations will have to be laid at the door of opening night nervousness.

He's the son of Dick Irvin Sr., one of the greatest coaches in the history of NHL hockey. He coached the Chicago Black Hawks, Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs

The 1966 Grey Cup game from Empire Stadium, Vancouver, will be carried live and in color on both CBC-TV and CTV on Nov. 26 at 12:30 p.m. PST.

Fred Sgambati will call the play-by-play with Nobby Wirkowski due for the analyst's job. Ernie Afaganis will report from field level.

LONDON-A row about tea is brewing behind the stately facades of a government office in White-hall Gardens that could have serious repercussions throughout the British civil service.

Red Tape, the journal of the Civil Service Clerical Associa-tion, brought the struggle to light in an issue out Sunday. The trouble started weeks back in the ministry of agriculture, fisheries and food.

The tried and true system of serving tea to the staff of 800 by a trolley service—push-cart trays—broke down.

"Tea clubs were organized overnight, and electric kettles sprouted from every available point," Red Tape said. Large jugs of steaming hot tea were available twice a day, at a reasonable price, and, what's more, personally brewed by civil servants for civil servants.

"Everyone was happy and the department's efficiency was well maintained," said the journal. "But regrettably, the authorities were not so happy. The improvised arrangements were untidy. Some hallowed rules were bent, if not actually

After high-level discussions, the proposal was cautiously put forward by officials that tea-yending machines be installed and private brewing of tea banned.

Leaders of the union representing the staff protested. compromise was reached and while negotiations continue the "tea clubs" can keep operating and the management can have tea from vending machines if it wants to.

WASHINGTON — Stripper Velvet Solange was halfway through her routine at the Gayety Theatre Saturday night when she climbed up on the chandeller from which she planned to drop the last of her clothing.

But this time the rope broke and Velvet herself dropped to

Lying in hospital today, Velvet looked at the cast that er cased her broken arm and recalled, "I was singing 'My Body Is More Important Than My Mind'."

WOMAN WINS DAMAGES FROM DOCTORS

BOSTON (AP) - A woman permanently crippled by brain injury caused by lack of oxygen has received a $413,640 judgment in a malpractice suit against two physicians.

Mrs. Edabeth Katz, 29, was awarded $330,000 by a Suffolk County jury. Her husband, Dr. J. Harris Katz, a blood expert and professor at Tufts University, was awarded $53,000 for medical expenses. The verdict also included $30,640 in interest.

Testimony was that Mrs. Katz was in the care of Dr. Louis Albert, an obstetrician, and Dr. William S. Easton, an anethetsiologist, on Nov. 21, 1964, for delivery of a child when oxygen was cut off from her braiff.

Testimony was presented that the woman cannot talk or move and requires 24-hour care in a hospital.

The late Dr. Thomas Addis, who spent his life studying kidney function, used to say he thought one of the best signs of good function of the kidneys is their ability to concentrate the urine. He said that if a man could go all morning with one urination, and all afternoon with an-other, and perhaps all night without once getting up to urinate, his kidneys must be in pretty good shape.

Today, with wonderful laboratories, we can quickly find out by testing the blood for urea, if the kidneys are getting rid of this important substatice that each day has to be thrown out of the body, much as garbage has to be thrown out of a house, There is another substance, creati-nine, which a laboratory can measure. When there is only a minute amount of this in the blood, the doctor knows that the kidneys are working adequately.

In some kidney troubles, the body may fill up with water (dropsy to a layman, and

In serious cases of high blood pressure, the arteries supplying the kidneys are first injected with a chemical that is opaque to X-rays. This enables them to be photographed, and then perhaps a markedly narrowed kidney artery may be found — one that has to be opened up surgically. This opening can work a spectacular cure. * * *

In order to study the pelvis (central cavity) of the kidney, and the ureter (the tube that carries the urine to the bladder) a substance impervious to X-rays, and quickly excreted by the kidneys, is injected into the blood, and then the inside of the kidneys can be X-rayed. In this way the doctor can see if both kidneys are functioning — if they, are functioning well, and if there is any sign of certain

The urine taken by tube from each kidney is studies for bacteria, red blood cells, and casts (tiny accumulations of material such as gathers in a tubule, and makes a cast of the inside of it). Such casts suggest some abnormality in the kidney function. Bacteria, with pus cells, show the presence of infection, such as can be treated with antiblotics. Sometimes stones in a kidney can keep up infection.

One Dead, 16 Hurt n Car Accidents

Oak Bay After Crash

By DON VIPOND Times Police Reporter

A 15-year-old Oak Bay girl is dead, eight persons are in hospital and eight others required hospital treatment after a black weekend of auto accidents.

Dead is Susan Marie Gray, aughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Edward Gray of 565 Hampshire Road, Oak Bay.

She died of multiple injuries at Royal Jubilee Hospital about an hour after six people were hurt in a two-car crash at Fernwood and Pembroke early Sunday.

The Oak Bay Junior High School student was one of four from a party by an adult. Two of them are in hospital with skull fractures but all the injured are reported in good condition. AROUND POLE

City police said the car with the teen-age passengers was northbound on Fernwood driven by James Peterson of 2129 Florence when it was in collision in the middle of the intersection with an auto headed east on Pembroke and driven by A/B Keith Douglas, 21, of Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt.

The force of the collision wrapped the rear of the Peter-son car around a utility pole, tearing open the side of the car and hurling the front seat out onto the road. The front of Douglas' car as smashed flat. He was the sole occupant.

SKULL FRACTURES Patsy Jean Grant, 15, of 114 Beach Drive, and Greg Barnes,

Weekend

By DON VIPOND Times Police Reporter

A 15-year-old Oak Bay girl is dead, eight persons are in hospital and eight others required hospital treatment after a black weekend of auto accidents. Dead is Susan Marie Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Edward Gray of 565 Hampshire Road, Oak Bay.

She died of multiple injuries at Royal Jubilee Hospital about an hour after six people were hurt in a two-car crash at Fernwood and Pembroke early Sunday.

The Oak Bay Junior High School student was one of four young people being driven home from a party by an adult. Two of them are in hospital with skull fractures but all the injured are reported in good condition AROUND POLE

City police said the car with the teen-age passengers was northbound on Fernwood driven by James Peterson of 2129 Florence when it was in collision in the middle of the intersection with an auto headed east on Pembroke and driven by A/B Keith Douglas, 21, of Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt.

The force of the collision wrapped the rear of the Peter-son car around a utility pole, the service yet to be announced. No date for any inquest has been

FREE SCALP CLINIC

Hair and Scalp Specialist will be holding free hair and scalp clinic at the Strathcona Hotel on TUES. and WED., NOV. 1 and 2, between the hours of 1 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Don't Resign Yourself

This internationally-famous expert urges that you do not resign your-self to baldness unless you are already bald. Your only obligation is to yourself-to free your mind about hair loss, dandruff, itching or other scalp disorders.

WHO CAN BE HELPED?

Will this new treatment cure BALDNESS? NO. We cannot help men or women who are slick BALD after years of gradual hair-loss. But where your scalp still grows hair, Imperial can save and improve what-you have.

The Important thing is: DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT IS TOO LATE. Learn how BA'DDNESS can be stopped, and new hair grown on your scalp, in the privacy of your own home.

Delay Increases

Problem bald heads hair roots may still be alive and capable of growing hair again after proper stimulation. "Increased hair production can only be achieved by initiating activity in quiescent follicles-pre-venting them from going into the 'permanent' resting State." Every day you delay may make your problem just that much more difficult.

GET THE FACTS

If your condition is "hopeless" he'll tell you so frankly. About 5% of those he examines are hopeless. Otherwise he'il tell you what's wrong with your hair and scalp, what can and should be done about at, how little time and money will be required to put your scalp in condition to grow healthy hair again.

REMEMBER

See Mr. Noble at the Hotel. Ask the Desk Clerk for Mr. Noble's Suite Number.

All examinations are given in private . . .
